J. A. MCKENZIE IS CHAIRMAN

For the Y. M. C. A. Campaign Work in Christian County.

Jas. A. McKenzie has consented to act as county chairman for Christian county in the campaign to raise Christian county's quota of $6,450 for the support of war work. Several meetings for organization have already been held. The same general plan used in the Liberty bond campaign will be adopted. The town and the county will be divided into districts and a close and systematic canvass will be made in each district.

At Pembroke J. R. Claypool has been made chairman.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock, at Mr. McKenzie's office, a meeting of the workers will be held and the scout boys will visit every home in town and leave literature. The final big drive will be made next Monday.

O. J. Jennings, Jr., Co. 31, 7th Reg. Marine Corps, of Murray, left Thursday night, via Lexington, Ky., to join his command on Paris Island, S. C. He expects to be in France before Christmas.

Miss Pansy Jenkins, Christian's first Red Cross nurse to be called into active duty, left for Camp Taylor yesterday to enter the service of her country in any capacity she may be needed, and will go anywhere that duty calls.

Hopkinsville's four young men still at Fort Benjamin Harrison are M. W. Merritt, John R. Green, Stonewall J. Smith and Allen Radford. The young recruiting officer W. H. Kendrick is always credited to Hopkinsville. All of them are apparently making good and will know their fate by Nov. 27th.

John T. Wade, the young school-teacher who volunteered to go in the first draft, is one of the local boys still at Camp Taylor, and is now a corporal. He was at Pembroke Sunday, and in this city Tuesday. He is telling of the Y. M. C. A. work and how the boys appreciate it.

Lightweight Champion to Teach Boxing to Soldier

Although "Fighting Benny" Leonard holds no commission in the United States army, he is nevertheless in the service of Uncle Sam—and as a fighter. His duty will be to teach the soldier boys at the various camps the art of self defense. He will be known as a boxing director. Since defeating Jack Britton, this new marvel of the boxing ring has decided to devote himself largely to his work in the army. He is shown here in uniform and in a special pose.

FINE HERD OF JERSEY CATTLE

On next Saturday, Nov. 17, one of the finest herds of Jersey cattle in this part of the State will be sold at public auction, at the Pennyroyal Fair Grounds. There will be 90 head of registered cattle offered, the property of Ross Rogers and Lee Gore. In the herd are two fine herd bulls and several young bulls. There are many cows, young heifers and calves, representing the most approved strains of Jersey cattle in this country.

A lunch will be served at 1:30 and the sale will begin promptly at 12 o'clock. With butter and cream higher than ever known, there is money in keeping a cow these times and this opportunity is one that should not be overlooked. If you are wanting something in the cattle line that you know is good, be sure to attend this sale next Saturday.

GOOD MAN DEAD RIPE IN YEARS

Wm. D. Bouldin, of the County, Buried In Riverside Yesterday.

Mr. Wm. D. Bouldin, a prominent citizen of the county, died Tuesday morning at his home in Pembroke, aged 78 years. Mr. Bouldin was born in Virginia, but had been a resident of Christian county for fifty years. He was a Confederate veteran, and served through the four years as a member of the 18th Virginia Infantry—Pickett's Division. He participated in the battles of Bull Run, Gettysburg, Manassas and several others. Mr. Bouldin joined the Methodist church when quite young and remained a faithful member through life. He had been a member of the Masonic order for more than half a century, with membership at Pembroke. His wife and nine children survive. Three of his children reside in this city. The remains were brought here yesterday morning and laid to rest in Riverside Cemetery.

ALEX DADE NOW A GENERAL

Another Deserved Promotion For Christian County Officer.

A brief notice appearing in the official United States bulletin that "Brigadier General Alexander L. Dade, signal corps, is relieved from duty at the signal corps training school, San Diego, Cal., and will proceed to Washington, D. C., and report to the chief signal officer of the army for duty," is the first information his relatives and friends in this, his home county, had of his promotion or transfer.

Gen. Dade served under Gen. Pershing in the Mexican campaign, at that time ranking as Major in the Seventh cavalry. He was promoted to Lieut. Colonel and then to Colonel. Now comes his promotion to Brigadier General.

Gen. Dade is 54 years of age. In the Spanish-American war he was brevetted for gallantry at Santiago. He was in twenty or more engagements with the Filipinos.

ADMITS SEIZING ALSACE GIRLS

Germany, Definite in Brutality Says "Scarcely One-half Are Forced to Work."

Washington, Nov. 14.—Confirmation now has been given by the German government itself to the often denied reports current for the past year that young girls of Alsace-Lorraine have been taken from their homes and forced to labor for the German army. From Switzerland to-day there came a cable report of the reply made by the German under secretary for war to a complaint of an Alsatian deputy in the reichstag against mistreatment of these young girls. The government's reply took the form of an official communique, which in substance stated that the army administration had taken measures to assure the girls requisitioned in Alsace-Lorraine and actively employed in work at the front the benefits of moral and religious supervision. Only eight and one-half per cent of the girls are less than seventeen years of age, the deputy was assured, and scarcely one half of them have been subjected by force to work at the front.

The German government, the reply set forth, wishing to meet the desires of the Alsatian population, has issued an order that young girls less than 17 years old who have been enrolled by force, should be liberated at once.

Famous Mexican General Making Tour of U. S.

The former leader of the Constitutional army in Mexico, and one of the foremost military men of that troubled country to the southward, is a visitor in the United States, for the present in New York. General Alvaro Obregon came here recently, arriving safely on American soil. He said his visit has no significance whatever, and that he will visit many places of interest in the United States, but his proposed tour will be for pleasure only. Gen. Obregon stated that Mexico is more prosperous than ever, and that both he and Gen. Carranza are on the friendliest terms. His recent resignation from the Cabinet was due purely to political differences with the administration, he says.

MRS. J. A. CLAY PASSES AWAY

Death Occurred in Paducah—Remains Interred in Riverside Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary J. Clay, a native of this county, died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Radford, in Paducah, and the remains were brought here Monday afternoon and interred in Riverside Cemetery. Mrs. Clay was 76 years old. She had been a sufferer from cancer of the stomach for several years and this caused her death. The deceased was the widow of J. A. Clay, who died near Herndon, about twenty years ago, and was a sister of Gum Chick, who was murdered in his store at "Knock 'Em Clean," in South Christian, one night in 1878. A few years after the death of her husband she took up her residence with her only daughter, in Paducah.

Mrs. Clay had been a member of the Christian church for a number of years and was held in high esteem by all who knew her.

TWO NEGROES HELD OVER

One Furnishes Bond and the Other is Taken to Warren County Jail.

Two negroes, Bishop Mallory and Preston Taylor, alleged "slackers," of Gordonsfield, were held over to the federal grand jury by U. S. Commissioner Cunningham Monday afternoon. They were charged with failing to register June 5 for military draft. Bond was fixed at $200 each. Taylor furnished bail, but Mallory was unable to do so, and he was committed to the Warren county jail at Bowling Green.

HUN MENACE NEAR VENICE

Arouses Italians To Heroic Resistance and Good Results Reached.

CAPTURED LATINs FREED

Diaz' Troops, Savagely Attacking, Smash Them Back Toward Bank of Stream.

The Italians apparently are holding the Teutonic allies fast along the greater part of the curving battle front extending from Lake Garda, south of the Trentino region, to the Adriatic sea. Small gains have been reported for the Teutons on the northern front and at one point along the southern reaches of the Piave river.

On the Asiago plateau where it was feared the invaders might break through the Italian line and force a retirement of the armies guarding the western bank of the Piave, the enemy again has met with several severe reverses, the Italians meeting vigorous attacks with their customary vigor and repulsing them with heavy losses to the enemy.

Indeed near Canov, to the west of Asiago, so strong and brilliantly executed was the Italian counter thrust that the forces of Gen. Diaz even were able to liberate Italians who had been captured by the Austro-German armies in the attempted flanking operation before the line was stiffened last week.

Realizing the close proximity of the enemy to Venice, preparations are being made to protect the ancient city and its historic buildings from the shells of the guns of the invaders. Sandbags have been piled high around the palace of the Doges and the Campanile. Doubtless most of the numerous works of art of which the city is proud already have been removed to places of security.

The Evansville Courier's "Hero Fund" to buy a home for the mother of James B. Gresham, has reached $1,354.

It is not all one way by any means. A few survivors have been picked up from two U-boats sunk by a British patrol boat off the Shetland islands a few days ago.

An additional supply of eggs, valued at $1,000,000, which had not been reported to the federal authorities as prescribed by law, was discovered in storage by secret service agents in New York. The value of the eggs found so far is placed at $3,294,433.

The rumor that Germans have attempted to occupy Finland are now denied. Revolutionists are attempting to overthrow the government on empty stomachs, as they have appealed to President Wilson, saying they are facing starvation.

Ten of the eleven editorial paragraphs in one of our exchanges were taken from the Kentuckian's editorial column, an unusual compliment, but this paper doesn't care what becomes of its paragraphs after they are used once. If the boys like 'em they are welcome to 'em.

The Italians and the Austro-Germans are in battle array along the Piave river from the hilly region in the north to the Adriatic sea—the Italians on the western side and the enemy along the eastern bank. The Italians have been reinforced by British batteries and are entrenched in strong positions which apparently cannot be taken except through heavy losses.

Queen Liliuokalani, the former colored sovereign of the Hawaiian islands, died Monday. With the death of Queen Liliuokalani has passed the last vestige of royalty in the Hawaiian islands. The eighth and last monarch to hold sway over the entire insular group, she reigned for only two years and that brief flicker of sovereignty was entirely extinguished more than twenty years ago in a revolution which led to the annexation of the islands to the United States. But notwithstanding her effacement from public affairs, Queen Liliuokalani never abandoned her royal pose nor lost the affection of her former subjects, and continued to her death a most interesting personality. She was born Sept. 2, 1838, in Honolulu. Her name was Lydia Kamakacha. In her memoirs, "Hawaii's History by Hawaii's Queen," she traced her ancestry back to the foundation of the Kamehameha dynasty, and claimed relationship to the royal family of the five sovereigns of that name. On Jan. 6, 1895, just two years after being deposed, Liliuokalani was arrested on the charge of being a participant in a plot to overturn the existing government and resume her sovereignty. Eight days later she formally renounced all claim to the throne. After nine months' confinement in her former palace, she and forty-eight others were pardoned, and when, on August 12, 1898, Hawaii became a territory of the United States, she declared her fealty to the country that had adopted her. The later years of her life Liliuokalani remained quietly at home. She had ceased to reign as a sovereign monarch, but she still reigned as queen in the hearts of her people, the native Hawaiians, who venerated her and paid her court as though she still sat upon the throne. She was a composer of hundreds of Hawaiian songs, some of which became popular in the United States.

COAL JOBBERS

Permitted Fifteen Per Cent.
Profit on Fuel Bought at High Prices.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Temporary relief from the coal shortage existing in many sections was seen today in a new order of the Fuel Administration granting permission to jobbers to take a small profit margin on coal they had purchased at high prices prior to the fixing of Government rates.

Under the direction of the State Fuel Administration the coal will be allotted to communities where shortage is most marked. Jobbers will be allowed a margin of 15 per cent. profit above the cost at which they made contracts with mines. Until today thousands of tons had been held by wholesalers because loss was inevitable if sales were made at the small margin allowed over Government-fixed prices.

Theaters May Pay War Tax For Their Patrons.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Moving picture theaters and other amusement places may pay the war tax of 1 cent for each 10 cents' admission charge without collecting it from patrons. Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper so ruled. The ruling was in response to queries whether it was legal for a theater to advertise: "Admission still 10 cents. We pay your war tax."

Ed Shinnick to The Rescue.

That was a mean "shot" Charlie Meacham, of the Hopkinsville Kentuckian, made at the editor of the Mayfield Messenger when he said:

"Editor Jim Lemon, who was here from Mayfield the other day went home and said in his paper that Christian county was Republican by 11,000 majority, but usually goes Democratic. When we saw him it was early in the morning and he didn't seem to be in such a condition as that."

Every member of the Kentucky Press Association will know this for a mere insinuation. They know that Jim Lemon is so excruciatingly "dry" that he has a holy horror of taking an occasional bath.—Shelbyville Record.

To Save Juice.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Faced by the realization that coal production cannot keep pace with the present rate of consumption, the fuel administration is ready if necessary to guarantee supplies only to domestic users and industries either necessary to the war or absolutely vital to the public. It is estimated that limiting the use of electric advertising to two and a quarter hours nightly will save half the fuel devoted to this purpose. In a statement accompanying today's order it was estimated it might become necessary to eliminate electric signs entirely.

The order makes an exception for signs used by small merchants for purposes of directing the public to their places of business. If these are not unreasonably large they may be kept lighted while the place is open for business.

CITY TAXES

Under Section 3400 of the Kentucky Statutes, interest at the rate of eight per centum per annum is now being added to all unpaid city taxes. This interest has been running since October 1, 1917, on taxes for the year 1917, and if said taxes are paid now very little interest will have to be paid. On all city taxes for the year 1917, which remain unpaid on the first day of December, 1917, an additional penalty of 6 per centum will be added.

The city officials have no desire to inflict the payment of interest and penalties on the tax payers, but the law makes it my duty to collect the interest and penalty above mentioned if taxes are not paid before the dates on which said interest and penalty, under the law, are added.

Persons, firms and corporations who have not paid their city taxes are requested to settle same now and thereby escape the payment of future interest and penalty.

This October 8th, 1917.

Commissioner of Finance City of Hopkinsville, Ky.

HOME-GROWN SEED IS THE SUREST AND BEST SELECT SEED CORN

ENOUGH FOR TWO YEARS

For 1918 Plantings and to Insure Adapted Seed for 1919

WHERE?

In the field from standing stalks of a variety that has "made good" and become locally adapted.

HOW?

Pick best ears from plants showing best yields in fair competition with neighboring plants. Storm-proof plants with hanging ears give best seed. Long ears with large, uniform kernels are the best. Avoid sappy ears heavy with water.

WHEN?

As soon as ears are ripe and hard-- before heavy frosts or autumn rains injure the kernels for seed. The day the ears are selected they should be hung where they will become thoroughly dry
in a few days.

WHY?

It pays. Field selection of seed corn is one of the surest and best paying operations on the farm. Proper care of seed corn pays well. Tests show that properly cared for seed corn has yielded eighteen bushels more per acre than crib stored seed from the same field.

The Furlong.
The measure of length known as the
furlong represents one-eighth of a mile.
Originally it was the length of the ancient acre in England which had a definite form, being 40 rods in length and 4 rods in breadth. On the old English open or common field system,
each furrow plowed equally in length
the acre, and the distance was called furlong, that is, furrow-long, or 40 rods, or 660 feet, equal to 220 yards or one-eighth of a mile.

Tiny George Dewey, Nephew of Admiral, Helps Recruiting and Sells Liberty Bonds

Like his uncle, the late Admiral George Dewey, hero of Manila Bay, little George Augustus Dewey has begun his career as a patriot and a sailor. He is shown here in his uniform and with his flag "manning" one of the main fire guns on a battleship. To be sure it is a land battleship, but the tiny Dewey of the great American Admiral would much rather be at sea on a "steel ship." He is helping recruiting and at the same time urging in his boyish way the sale of Liberty Bonds. This young Dewey wants to be an Admiral like his uncle, and when he is old enough will go into the navy. He recently led a parade in blue jackets in New York, and has since made his headquarters on the battleship "Recruit," in the heart of the metropolis.

"Everywhere in the United States" the Red Cross canteen service is in operation. The soldiers passing backward and forward from camps or en route to points of embarkation for Europe are never overlooked when they stop over at some transfer point or are delayed in transit. Every town supports a branch of this service. This is one of the first pictures of the Red Cross canteen workers "on the job." The troop train has stopped at a station about meal time, and the women are distributing sandwiches, coffee and pie to stay the patriotic appetites of the soldiers. The scene is typical of the work of the women in this branch of the Red Cross.

HIGH SCHOOL CARNIVAL

Will Excel Anything The Students Have Undertaken.

John B. Jackson and Ray Moss are general managers of the High School Carnival for which big preparations are being made. A similar one four years ago will be surpassed this time.
There will be six ten cent shows, the admission at the door ten cents, which make ninety cents, but the management has announced they will sell a ticket
for all the shows and the door admission for seventy-five cents. These tickets will be on sale at G. N. Duffer's or can be obtained from any of the High School students.

Famous Brazilian Seaport.
The first of the important seaports
of Brazil that are accessible from New York is Belém, the capital of the state of Para. It ranks as the fifth in size, but to the tourist it is of surpassing interest because it is situated on the Para river, the southern or commercial mouth of the Amazon, "that mightiest and most majestic of all the rivers of the world," writes Harry Weston Van Dyke in his "Through South America."

To Cleanse a Wound.
If a wound is greasy, cleanse with a pledget of the absorbent cotton moistened in benzine, or the antiseptic soapsuds. Cover the wound with several thicknesses of iodoform gauze if you have it—as you should have—in your first-aid kit; pad with a little more absorbent cotton, and bandage in place. Unless necessary to stop bleeding, do not bandage too tightly.

Baby Born on a Shetland Island.
Some years ago a bonus was paid to a baby in extraordinary circumstances.
The new arrival was born at Balta, one of the outlying islands of the Shetland group, and it seems that it was the first baby to be born on the island for two centuries. The proprietor of the island forthwith sent $125 to its mother, a working woman, who was employed on the island in connection with a fish curing station.

Delays in Congress.
"How will you explain to your constituents," we chidingly asked, "your action in delaying the business of this great nation by indulging in long-winded oratory while matters of tremendous importance wait?" "Of tremendous importance?" naively answered Senator Slush. "Why, what can possibly be of more importance than my speech?"—Kansas City Star.

Pests Levy Heavy Toll.
Of all the numerous pests that have the United States, the insect class has

WAR GARDENERS

By LOUISE OLIVER.

Fred sniffed uneasily as he turned the corner from the station. There was a faint aroma of something cooking, just what he could not yet tell,
but he knew that it came from his own kitchen as surely as he knew that the sun was coming up next morning. As he came nearer he was able to distinguish it more clearly—tomatoes in some process of preservation!

How weary he was of this canning.
Night in and night out it seemed for weeks and months past it had been the same thing. He had come home to find Laura overheated, overtired, not dressed, and her temper at the snapping point.

The bungalow as he approached it looked so bare and cheerless that he was almost tempted to turn back to the station and take the first train away from trouble. The porch boxes that last year had been a varicolored mass of foliage and trailing vines were now innocent of so much as a coat of paint; the awnings, so bravely and cheerfully striped a year before, hung stained and despondent from dry, dusty eaves; the flower beds formerly gorged with peonies, big orange poppies, roses and a thousand varieties of everything, and the close-clipped emerald lawn, had given way to a vegetable garden.

But Fred's thoughts were bitter, not so much on account of the war dress of the house as with conditions within. He thought of Mary Ann, that precious family jewel who had come to live with them after the honeymoon, and of the three delectable meals he
and Laura had sat down to every day.
Mary Ann had left at Christmas. But the worst of the whole thing was Laura's insatiable penchant for canning.

"For goodness sake, can't you ever get through?" Fred had asked despondently the day before, when Laura, up to her neck in pear butter, had set him down to a fried egg and potato
on the corner of the kitchen table.

"Goodness, no! There are the tomatoes yet and piccalilli and catsup!"

Fred did not argue. But he smelled the tomatoes now and predicted another triangular meal in the kitchen.

He was right—almost—except that tonight's meal had but one dimension
—a baked potato.

"I was just too tired to cook, Fred,"
declared Laura wearily.

And then Fred said things he'd never meant to say about coming home to a mussed-up house and a Dickensian-looking wife, and stung out of the kitchen and out of the house, climbed on the train, got a seat on the river side, and settled back for his twenty-minute ride.

Suddenly some one leaned forward and said in his ear, "You're getting back early, my boy."

Fred turned in surprise. It was old Mr. Prompter, the senior partner and by long odds the hardest worker in the firm, in spite of his age. He was very rich and lived in a fashionable section
two stations beyond Fred.

Fred said something about his dinner, but the old man was deaf, somewhat; moreover, he was changing his seat to talk to Fred.

"I was just thinking," the old man was saying, "that our young men in the office weren't taking the interest in the business they ought to, but it seems I'm wrong. I'm glad to see, my boy, that you are willing to do your bit
in this sudden extra pressure of work."

Little by little it was soaking in.
Old Mr. Prompter took it for granted that Fred was going back to the office to work like himself. And Fred was too paralyzed to enlighten him.

"After all," thought Fred, "it won't hurt to let him think I'm a little thin angel. I've been after a raise and this may help some. I'll go get a bite somewhere, telephone to Laura and humor the old chap by working like a sailor all evening."

That night Fred came tiptoeing in at twelve o'clock fearful of waking his wife, but she was sitting up sewing beside the living room lamp and looking like his honeymoon wife of last year.
She was dressed in a gown he liked and her hair, always lovely, looked better than it had for months.

Before Fred could say a word Laura sprang up. "Poor dearie, you must be tired. Come on and sit down and we'll have one of our old parties. I've been an awful person to you lately, and I'm never, never, never going to put up another thing and neglect my house and husband as long as I live, war or no war."

Fred took her in his arms and patted her head tenderly. "Listen, dearie, it's the best investment you ever made.
Old Prompter got so worked up when I was the only one who turned up for work that he—you'll never guess it—he took me into the firm. That baked potato meant thousands of dollars a year to us. You'd better put it in alcohol on the mantle!"

Champ Has New Version.
Champ Clark has added another classic to the list of proverbs, according to the Washington Star.

It was in the midst of a debate. Representative Gullett of Massachusetts
had been guilty of gross exaggeration by saying: "A bird in the hand is worth seven in the bush."

Champ Clark was not to be outdone:
"He thinks so," declared the speaker, "but in my district there is a lawyer who believes a bird in hand is the ablest work of God."

Was Too Particular.

A Boonton (N. J.) real estate man was trying to sell a small farm by mail to a possible purchaser in Manhattan, a very precise and particular person. One day a friend asked him how he was making out on the deal. "Oh, I've quit," he said in a tone of marked pleasure. "You see, he wrote for so many details and kept insisting on having more, that I got tired at last and wrote, telling him if he would pay the freight both ways I would ship the darn farm down to the city to look at, and he never answered my letter."—Puck.

Col. Dan T. Moore was attached to the artillery and stationed in Washington, he frequently engaged in friendly boxing bouts with former President Theodore Roosevelt. It was in one of these that he crossed a right to the Colonel's left eye which rendered that organ permanently useless. Col. Moore does not remember the incident, but since he is the only artillery officer who boxed with Col. Roosevelt between 1904 and 1906, he presumed that he must have administered the blow in one of the tri-weekly matches at the White House. He is sorry now. Col. Roosevelt never divulged the name of the man who did the deed.

PRESENTS FOR BOYS IN TRENCHES

Christmas Box Worth About $400 Sent Yesterday.

A box containing about 200 Christmas packages was shipped yesterday from Red Cross headquarters to St. Louis, to be sent to American soldiers in France. The Belmont, West Side and Virginia Street schools, the colored schools and the Western State Hospital and other places contributed liberally and many individuals responded to the appeal.

In each package went the name of some person who had contributed the articles or had given money with which to purchase them. Not the name alone was included, but in every one went a little personal note of cheer and appreciation from the folks back home to the boys in the trenches. These notes probably will be the most appreciated of all the things in the packages.

Each package is contained in a stout bag made of gay flowered creton, each bag being exactly the same size and made the same way. Inside this bag the first thing the soldier will find will be a "housewife," containing safety pins and bachelor buttons. Then will come the "package," which is wrapped in tissue paper and tied with red ribbon in true Christmas style. Under the paper is a khaki handkerchief in which the gifts are enclosed.

Untying the handkerchief, the various articles come to view. In each package there is a wash rag, handkerchief, shaving stick, tooth brush, pipe, envelopes, mints, chocolate, sack of smoking tobacco, some pencils, chewing gum, writing tablet, cigarette papers, 5 Christmas post cards, cake of soap, and a game of some sort, each worth about $2.

Experience with Gas.

The American Infantrymen in the trenches and artillerymen in the gun pits have had their first real experience with gas shells. The Germans have let loose many during the last two days, making use of gas masks necessary. Shrapnel also has been freely used by both sides.

During a recent night the enemy machine guns were again turned on the Americans trenches, the Americans replying with an equally vigorous fire.

'Twas Ever Thus.

"Statesmen," said Plutarch, "are not only liable to give an account of what they say or do in public, but there is a busy inquiry made into their very meals, beds, marriages and every other sportive or serious action." And Plutarch lived nearly 1,900 years ago.

End of Galt House.

The Galt House, First and Main, Louisville, one of the oldest and most famous hotels in America, is about to be converted into a government warehouse.

A Chicago capitalist, it is said, at an early date will take over the hotel and remodel it as a storehouse for army and cantonment supplies.

According to plans recently formed railroad tracks will be run into the hotel.

The hotel is one of the oldest and most historic places of its kind in America. It was built ten or fifteen years after the Civil War by Daniel Whitestone, architect, and has sheltered many men of international prominence, among them being the Duke of Marlboro and the famous Colonel Throckmorton, who figured so conspicuously in politics during and after the Civil War.

Originally the Galt House stood at the corner of Second and Main streets in the building now occupied by the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis road, and in the early 40's Charles Dickens, the famous English writer, spent a night in one of its rooms while on his tour in America.

and tape, trying to fix a corn so it wouldn't hurt. But now no one in the world "should worry" because the moment you put "Gets-It" on, it means the end of a corn. There is nothing in the world like "Gets-It"—nothing as sure and certain—nothing that you can count on to take off a corn or callus every time, and without danger. The corn never grew that "Gets-It" will not get. It never irritates the flesh, never makes your toes sore. Just two drops of "Gets-It" and presto! the corn-pain vanishes. Shortly you can peel the corn right off with your finger and there you are—corn-free and happy with the toes as smooth and corn-free as your palm. Never happened before, did it? Guess not.

Post This Bodyguard Around Your Children

You Can Keep Them Free from Colds Without Dosing.

These two fine boys have a "Little Bodyguard" to protect them against sudden attacks of croup or cold troubles. Their mother Mrs. C. C. Evinger, 1224 N. 6th St., Terre Haute, Ind., writes—

"I have tried your Vick's VapoRub on my two boys (who are nineteen months and three and one-half years old respectively), and have found it very satisfactory when they had the croup. The first application helped to loosen the phlegm, making them rest more easily, and they were able to go to sleep. VapoRub also helped them when they had severe colds. I can recommend it to all mothers."

But the best part about this "Little Bodyguard"—VapoRub, is that it is applied externally and hence can be used freely, with perfect safety, on the smallest child, as often as wished. Three size, 25c, 50c or $1.00.

After eluding officers of several states in their 1,200-mile journey, Berg and Loschner had been in Laredo three days without exciting suspicion, when Inspector Rumsey discovered them below Laredo on the Rio Grande. The Germans, mistaking Rumsey for a cowboy, replying to a question as to what they wanted, said:

"We are German prisoners who escaped from Fort McPherson. We are trying to get across into Mexico and from there will return to Germany."

Lewis Champions Wilson's Policies in U. S. Senate

While Congress has stood behind President Wilson on every proposition that has to do with the welfare of the American public, in both houses there are leaders whose efforts have been bent during the past few trying months in upholding the chief executive and his policies. In the Senate James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, has long been recognized as one of the staunch supporters of the administration. He is known as the "democratic whip" of the upper house, and as such has given ample demonstration of his powers. Senator Lewis is shown here in his latest picture.

Heron's Foot for Bait.
So great is the heron's repute as a fisher that it has long been thought that it's feet, owing to some peculiar scent or oil which they were supposed to possess, attracted the fish, more especially eels, to within easy reach of its beak. In some places the rustic angler still believes that if a heron's foot is placed with his worms the latter are more eagerly taken by fish.—London Outlook.

FOR BETTER ROADS

HARD ROADS ARE NECESSARY

Big Essential in Using Trucks for Transportation of Farm Products to City Markets.

The farm truck is destined to play an important part in the marketing of farm produce, but in the meantime much attention must be paid to the roadways over which they are to be operated. In the opinion of W. H. Sanders, instructor in farm motors in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"To use a truck to advantage hard roads are necessary," said Mr. Sanders. "Trucks have been used with marked success for a number of years on paved streets. Although they were used to transport food and water to the United States troops during the recent occupation of Mexico, the war department soon decided that hard roads were a requirement in operating trucks to the best advantage.

"Use of a truck on the farm saves time and reduces the number of men required to do the farm hauling. When a truck is operated on the farm greater care will be used in laying out the fields so as to give a more efficient use of power expended. Time will be saved, because less time will be spent on the road between town and the farm. The number of farm hands will also be reduced."

PERMANENT ROADS IN FAVOR

Money Spent for Location, Grading and Drainage of Roads is Useful Expenditure.

Investing money in the proper location, grading and drainage of roads is about the most permanently useful expenditure of public funds that can be made. Usually courthouses are considered typical of such an investment, but a well-located road is serviceable for a far longer period. The courthouse is outgrown at the end of a quarter century; if it continues in use longer it must be remodeled and the public officials in it clamor for better quarters. But a road laid out on proper lines and grades serves the public forever, and on that account its location should be made by a competent engineer. Furthermore, even the local roads should be laid out with the same care, so that as the country develops they will improve with it and not require expensive purchases for new rights-of-way. Foresight in such matters will have valuable results within a comparatively few years in a country growing as fast as the United States.

FIRST ROAD UNDER U. S. AID

Will Be Located in Apache National Forest, Arizona—Several Advantages of Highway.

The first national forest road to be constructed under the federal aid act will be located in the Apache National forest, Arizona, a survey for which has been authorized by Secretary Houston. The proposed road will be 71 miles in length and cost about $342,500, to be borne equally by the federal government and the local community. Among the advantages of the highway will be the opening up of enormous industrial resources and a magnificent recreation area for tourist travel.

Influence of Automobile.
The influence of the automobile upon road improvement is constant and omnipresent. It reaches the remotest rural regions and tends to convert bad roads into good and good roads into better.

Cost is $800 a Mile.
The average cost for repair and maintenance of 7,800 miles of highway in Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey and Rhode Island for the year 1912 was about $800 a mile.

HOOVER'LL GET YOU.

The darned old Hoover pledge has come to our house to stay; To frown our breakfast bacon down, and to take our steak away; It cans our morning waffles, and our sausage, too, it seems, And dilates on the succulence of corn, and spuds, and beans. So skimp the sugar in your cake and leave the butter out, Or Hoover's goin' to get you if you DON'T WATCH OUT!

Oh, gone are the good old days of hot cakes thickly spread; And meatless, wheatless, hopeless days are reigning in their stead; And gone are days of fat rib roasts, and two-inch T-bone steaks, And doughnuts plump and golden brown, the kind that mother makes; And when it comes to pies and cakes, just learn to cut it out,

Or Hoover's goin' to get you if you DON'T WATCH OUT! So spread your buckwheats sparingly, and peel your taters thin; And tighten up your belt a notch and don't forget to grin. A d if, sometimes, your who's soul yearns for shortcake high and wide, And biscuits drenched with honey, and chicken, butter fried, Remember then that Kaiser Bill is short on saurkraut, And Hoover's goin' to get him if we'll ALL HELP OUT!

CONSTIPATION

And Sour Stomach Caused This Lady Much Suffering. Black-Draught Relieved.

Madisonville, Ky.—Mrs. Pearl Patrick, of this place, writes: "I was very constipated. I had sour stomach and was so uncomfortable. I went to the doctor. He gave me some pills. They weakened me and seemed to tear up my digestion. They would gripe me and afterwards it seemed I was more constipated than before."

I heard of Black-Draught and decided to try it. I found it just what I needed. It was an easy laxative, and not bad to swallow. My digestion soon improved. I got well of the sour stomach, my bowels soon seemed normal, no more griping, and I would take a dose now and then, and was in good shape.

I cannot say too much for Black-Draught for it is the finest laxative one can use."

Thedford's Black-Draught has for many years been found of great value in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles. Easy to take, gentle and reliable in its action, leaving no bad after-effects, it has won the praise of thousands of people who have used it.

War-Ravaged Bessarabia. The original inhabitants of Bessarabia are believed to have been Cimmerians, after whom came the Scythians. Because it was the key to one of the approaches toward the empire of Byzantium, the province was invaded by many successive races during the early centuries of the Christian era. Trajan incorporated it with the province of Dacia, and in the next century the Goths poured into it, to be followed in turn by the Huns, the Avars and the Bulgarians.

Ink Spots in Books.

Anyone who has been unfortunate enough to get ink on a favorite book, or, worse still, a borrowed one, may be interested to know how one housekeeper removed such disfiguring marks. She bought a little oxalic acid, diluted it with cold water and painted it over the ink spots with a fine camel's hair brush. Then she applied a sheet of blotting paper to the stained part, and absorbed the stain with the liquid.

VISION FOLLOWS WEALTH.

Wealth means opportunity. It means travel, music, art, literature, culture, if you will. Even religion must have its golden basis. Wealth builds schools, universities. Chicago spends annually $25,000,000 that our youth may have vision. Big business enterprises transforming the world rest upon accumulation of great wealth. Rob the world of its wealth and it would recede to barbarism.

LIFE DIARY OF

MRS. WEAVER

Her Experience Was a Very

Sad One.

NEVER AGAIN FOR MARTHA.

She Brings Shame and Ridicule Upon

Herself—Husband a Willing Accomplice—They Both Were Taught

a Lesson That Will Last Them Their Entire Lifetime.

[Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. Sullivan.]

Do not judge from mere appearances,

for the light laughter that bubbles on the lip often mingles over the depth of sadness, and the serious look may be the sober veil that covers a divine

peace and joy. The bosom may ache beneath diamond brooches, and many a blithe heart dances under coarse wool.

Assuming the above to be true, we will proceed to tear a page from the life diary of Mrs. Weaver and present

it to our readers.

That New Suit.

"What am I going to do about that new suit I must have?" said Martha

Weaver to her husband as he came in from work one evening.

"Why is there any question about that? Go to Hopkins & Co. and get what you need. If you need a suit get it," answered her husband.

"I have looked there," replied

Martha, "but they haven't anything that I want. I just need a simple suit, but I want good material, and it must be neatly and well made, one that I could use for almost any occasion. I would prefer a ready made suit, but those that Hopkins & Co. have appear to be made of poor, flimsy material, and they are decked out with such cheap, flashy, dowdy trimming that I just cannot bear to wear them," replied

Martha.

The False Step.

"Well, what do you want to do—run into the city and get you a suit?"

asked John.

"No. That does not suit me either,

for when I have to pay my fare, my hotel bill and other incidental expenses

it makes the cost too high and also takes more time than I can spare for the purchase of one suit," said Martha.

"Could you not order one? Didn't I see some mail order catalogues around here awhile ago?" asked the interested husband.

"Yes; I could do that, but I am almost afraid to risk it. Still, their styles appear to be good, and the prices quoted seem reasonable. I have been thinking about doing that. I will look them up again and see what I can do,"

answered Martha.

Martha's Heart Sank.

Martha had little difficulty in "looking up" the catalogue, as the house

seemed full of them, and after critically examining the suit pictures a simple blue took her fancy. The description corresponded with her idea of what she wanted; the trimming looked neat and of good quality. The price was satisfactory, so after debating for some little time she decided to send for it. A draft was forwarded, and the long vigil

pending the arrival of the suit was as depressing upon John as upon Martha.

"POLLY OF THE CIRCUS" HERE

Margaret Mayo's Celebrated Play Made Into a Remarkable Photo-Spectacle
Starring Mae Marsh.

"Polly of the Circus," Margaret Mayo's world-famed classic of the "Big Tops" and now converted from the celebrated play into a tremendous photo-spectacle, comes to the Tabernacle-to-morrow and Saturday, the first of the eagerly awaited Goldwin Pictures. After an absence of almost an entire year from the screen, Mae Marsh, who won world-wide popularity in "The Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance," comes again to greet her huge throngs of admirers in one of the most beautiful and elaborate productions ever made for the screen. "Polly of the Circus" was directed by Charles, virtually a newcomer among directors, and the magnificent settings and artistic details are the creation of Everett Shinn, the noted artist.

This production literally abounds in sentiment and thrills for people of all ages. There is a remarkably exciting horse race, the reproduction of an entire circus performance, including all of the animals and riding acts; the arrival of the circus in a village at day break and its departure in the night; the burning of the main tent and the stampede of the audience. And there is a love story of greater charm and beauty than you have ever before seen on the screen.

THE STORY.

The Picture tells the story of Polly, child of the circus, who, following the death of her mother in an accident, is raised by an old clown, Toby. Polly becomes a bareback rider, and when she is injured by a fall during her act, she is left behind in the little town, while the rest of the circus goes on.

When injured, Polly was taken to the nearest house, which happened to be that of a young minister, John Douglas. Here Polly stays during the long months of convalescence. She is sixteen, and beautiful. The minister is twenty-five, and a bachelor. So the gossips are soon busy, and what might have been a pretty romance is twisted into a scandal by narrow-minded villagers. Polly is regarded with open hostility and her presence is particularly disquieting to Julia Strong, the pretty daughter of the town's big man, Deacon Strong. Julia has set her cap for the young parson, and Polly's presence upsets all her plans.

Polly, ignorant of the hubbub she is creating, is transformed under the minister's guidance from an ignorant circus waif to a tender and adorable young woman.

Word comes to Polly of the serious illness of her old friend, Toby, the clown. Under impulse Polly, riding her circus horse, sweeps into the race at the county fair at the last moment, and wins the purse with which she hopes to buy comfort and health for her old friend. But in winning the race she increases the enmity of Deacon Strong, whose horse she had defeated, and when the deacon catches her at a disadvantage he banishes her from the village, making her believe that the minister's church will be taken away from him if she stays. Polly perforce must leave without a word of explanation to Douglas, and the latter believes she has chosen to return to the circus and her old life. The months which pass do not serve to efface her memory, but only to strengthen the minister's love for the radiant girl who has passed out of his life. With Polly the story is the same. Her love for Douglas deepens and grows.

When another Spring brings the blossoms the little god that laughs at locks and obstacles finds a way to bring these two loving hearts together again—even though it takes a panic and a circus fire to it.

Farmers Bank, Concord, Mich., was looted of $18,000 by robbers.
